P&H INTERIORS

P&H Interiors likes to make a statement, and a bold one at that. Relying on two decades of experience, creative vision, extraordinary organizational skills and an inspiring sense of loyalty, P&H is committed to awe-inspiring designs that complement clients' lifestyles, budgets and underlying needs. The award-winning firm provides all-encompassing, custom projects with a very personal approach. "Design inspiration always begins and ends with the client," says Susan Connor, president and CEO of P&H Interiors. "The client's preferences and budget are always paramount in our designs. Once complete, these projects are a reflection of our client, not ourselves. When we hear comments like, 'I love it more every day,' that speaks volumes." What has set P&H Interiors in the upper tier of its field? Attention to detail, excellent service, impressive customer satisfaction and organization. Respected for its methodical approach to design and extensive experience, P&H Interiors works with residential and commercial clients, as well as renowned builders. "We work one-on-one with our clients offering space and budget planning, architectural enhancements, complete design specifications and time-saving solutions," added Connor, who credits her talented team with the success the firm has achieved. "We're enthusiastic, passionate and dedicated to creating memorable interiors that are aesthetically pleasing and functional for our clients' needs. We really love what we do." And it shows.

Q+A

What are the key influences in your work today?

Our influences are client-driven. It is vital that the design properly reflects the client's vision and lifestyle, while ensuring thoughtful design and maximum functionality.

What are you working on next?

Oceanfront homes in Florida and Cape Cod, four models and a clubhouse for GL Homes in Boynton Beach, a clubhouse in Texas and homes in Royal Palm Yacht & Country Club.

Which projects have brought you the most satisfaction, and why?

The ones where our clients say they're still delighted with our designs even years later, and when they refer their friends and family.

FEATURES: Advanced technology balanced with sleek and classic finishes create a unique showplace in harmony with the interior of this home. It is the perfect space to showcase even the most discerning homeowner's prized possessions.

FEATURES: Influenced by Frank Lloyd Wright's "Falling Water," natural elements and earthy color palettes were used to create a dramatic yet inviting atmosphere. Innovative lighting design and clean-lined furnishings complement this organically inspired look.

FEATURES: Timeless architectural details pair with sophisticated furnishings and draperies in this stately waterfront residence. Soft textures and neutral tones lend to the airy and understated elegance.

FEATURES: This guest suite conveys a boutique hotel vibe through the use of unexpected elements such as chocolate brown walls and an ornately carved poster bed. Mirrored chests and tailored linens complete the chic boudoir look.

FEATURES: Carefully selected contemporary pieces and clever space planning maximize the use of this urban retreat. Metropolitan chic is further defined by its cool colors, simple patterns and lush textures.
